MOVE TROOPS IN ULSTER ONLY TO PROTECT ARMS

Official Report Says All Proposed Movements of Troops Have Been Carried Out—These of Precautionary Measure

KING GEORGE HAS CONFERENCE

Meanwhile Public Awaiting Statement Today from House of Commons Regarding the Further Movement of Troops

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] LONDON, March 22.—An official report says that all the proposed movements of the troops in Ulster have been carried out.

"These movements," the report says, "are of a purely precautionary kind, with the object of protecting depots of arms, ammunition and other government property against possible risks. There is no intention of moving troops into Ulster except for these and like purposes."

King George conferred with his cabinet leaders all day. The situation seemed less alarming and the public is inclined to wait patiently for the expected statement tomorrow in the House of Commons regarding the movement of troops.

Many Officers Quit

BELFAST, March 22.—More than 100 officers have resigned from the army sent into Ireland, according to information received here. General Paget, commanding the troops, paraded his men and told them it was the King's express request that they stay in the ranks, in order to prevent trouble. In spite of this, the officers refused to reconsider their resignations and their defection caused great jubilation in Ulster.

Ammunition Missing

DUBLIN, March 22.—Stock taking in the Curragh magazine, disclosed that thousands of rounds of ammunition are missing.

General Gough Resigns

LONDON, March 22.—The Sunday Observer asserts on high authority that General Sir Arthur Paget visited Curragh on Friday and gave General Gough the option of taking command of Ulster, or retiring. Gough resigned immediately.

MORE SPORTS, LESS BEER

Development of Athletics in Germany Stops Much Drinking

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] BERLIN, March 22.—To the development of athletic sports in Germany is traced in large measure the great reduction in beer consumption. Thousands of young men in and out of the army who are training for the Olympic games to be held here in 1916, with the hopes of eclipsing American prestige in these classic contests, have found that the first demand of their physical instructors is less beer drinking and athletic enthusiasm is such that the instructions are followed. Many have given up beer drinking altogether.

MOTHER JONES RETURNING

Expects to Be Arrested As Soon As She Reaches Trinidad

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] DENVER, March 22.—"Mother" Mary Jones, the aged strike leader, left for Trinidad, in defiance of military orders. She went unaccompanied and is scheduled to arrive at Trinidad tomorrow morning.

"I certainly expect to be re-arrested the moment I step from the train," she said. "I will go back to the hospital, since the soldiers have bayonets and I have nothing but the constitution."

Governor Ammons declared he hoped she would stay away from Trinidad, as her presence, if she remains, will result in bloodshed.

LAUGHS BRING STABS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] BAKERSFIELD, March 22.—Because Harley Crabtree and William Rooks laughed when he fell from a bicycle, Dolores Carillo, an intoxicated Mexican, stabbed both and then fled on his wheel. A cow puncher lassoed him and the crowd prepared to hold a lynching bee, when the police arrived.

Not To Prosecute White Slavers In Federal Court

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 22.—W. G. Barnhart, United States District Attorney for this district has announced that hereafter infractions of the law occasioned by the transportation of women from one state to another, will not be prosecuted in the federal court here under the Mann

KHAKI CLAD REBELS ARE NOW ONLY SEVEN MILES FROM TORREON

Villa's Forces Are Clearing the Way for an Assault Upon the Main Positions of the Federal Army at Torreon

HAS NO FEAR OF RESISTANCE

Hears Huerta Men Are Fortified at Gomez Palacio and Says if This is True the Position Must Be Taken at Once

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] BAJE, Borneo, Durango, March 22.—Having cleared the way for a direct attack on Torreon by his successors of the last two days in driving back the federal advance guards, General Villa left for the south. The zigzag front of the khaki clad rebels, including almost naked Indians, is only seven miles from the enemy.

Villa said he doubted if the federals would make further resistance until the last two days in driving back the federal advance guards, General Villa left for the south. The zigzag front of the khaki clad rebels, including almost naked Indians, is only seven miles from the enemy.

"If true, the position must be taken," he said.

The federals have filled some of the irrigating ditches with water, in order to impede the rebel advance, and others are being utilized as trenches.

Villa began to move his troops Friday from Yermo, 160 miles north of Torreon and 15 miles north of Berbeles.

The rebels suddenly appeared against the federal cavalry, who retreated and lost 100 men in the streets of the town. Various rebel columns captured the outposts.

CONCHA'S FORCES ARE ROUTED BY FEDERALS.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The Rebel forces of Concha, leader of the recent uprising against the Peruvian government in the state and city of Esmeraldas, were routed by Federals, according to a cablegram from President Plaza, made public by Dr. S. S. Withler, first secretary of the Peruvian legation here.

Idle Army Must Work Or Leave Los Angeles City

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] LOS ANGELES, March 22.—Collections being had at the two mass meetings held here today, Morris Rose, leader of the unemployed army, camped in the river bed, announced that he would ask the city council for $1500 to finance the march of his 1500 men 500 miles to Sacramento. Thereupon all amicable relations with the police were terminated.

Chief Sebastian tonight declared the men would be offered work tomorrow and if they do not accept employment, they will be driven out anyhow.

Yesterday there were 20 recruits, and $450 was netted. Today there were fifty recruits and the hat-passers, wearing tin stars, got almost $700. Members of the city council said, the unemployed would be chased out of town if they did not accept the jobs offered.

ABOUT TOLLS EXEMPTION

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] WASHINGTON, March 22.—Opponents of the repeal of the Panama Canal tolls exemption, are pleased over the delays and believe their propaganda is getting stronger all the time. The administration leaders think the repeal will eventually triumph and that the delay is only temporary. The president believes the administration's foreign policy depends on the tolls exemption question.

LIEUTENANT SENTENCED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] METZ, Germany, March 22.—Lieutenant Von La Valle of the Saint George, Ninety-Eighth German Infantry, was sentenced to thirty months imprisonment in the Fortress for killing Lieutenant Hage in a duel on February 26. He was also dismissed from the army. The court found the prisoner by his conduct provoked the duel and wronged the honor of Hage.

BENTON CASE IS NOT ONLY ONE OF SAME NATURE

Compared With Series of Events Which Occurred in Mexico Before Maximilian of Austria Took the Throne

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] LONDON, March 22.—The situation which Great Britain is facing as a result of the shooting of William S. Benton in Mexico, not only is not novel, but even almost unimportant compared to the events of 1859-62. A list of outrages committed during those three years before the British government joined France and Spain in the intervention which led to the seating of Maximilian of Austria upon the Mexican throne, has been brought forward in part as follows:

Dr. Daxal, a British subject who was arrested in April, 1859, by the clerical, General Marquez, while attending to wounded Juaristas after their defeat at Tacubaya, was shot without trial.

A British subject named J. L. Innes was hunted through the mountains about Oaxaca with a price on his head.

British Vice Consul Bodmer was shot dead on his own balcony while trying to save a Mexican.

Mr. Beale was shot by bandits on his farm near Mexico City.

There were several other murders of British subjects of humbler positions.

A Mr. Burnard's factory was twice plundered and he was severely wounded by the robbers, so that he lost an arm; his wife went mad from the shock.

Financially, too, the British subjects suffered greatly through these three years. Claims submitted by British subjects to their legation up to April 28, 1861, amounted to $18,000,000 for such outrages as "forced supplies," "stoppage of factory," "plunder, death and mutilation," "imprisonment and sentence of death," and simple plunder.

In November, 1860, the Clerical General Miramon seized $600,000 in silver which had been deposited at the British legation as the property of bondholders, and a few months later a Juarist general seized a convoy of some hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of silver bullion belonging to British subjects and on its way to the coast. The Juarist government also suspended payment of the interest on its foreign loan, which was then mainly held in England.

In the face of all these outrages, Earl Russell and Lord Palmerston refrained from intervention, despite the fact that it would have been a

Farmer To Ship Produce Direct By Parcel Post

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] WASHINGTON, March 22.—Ten cities have been selected by Postmaster General Burleson to begin the work of reducing the cost of living by having the parcel post carry farm products directly to the consumers' doors, and orders have already been issued permitting the use of crates and boxes for butter, eggs, poultry, vegetables and fruit shipped by parcel post.

Postmasters are directed to receive the names of persons willing to supply farm products in retail quantities by parcel post. The list will be distributed among the city patrons, and the city consumer can have the farmer fill weekly orders for butter, eggs, etc.

The farmer, by this plan, will not have to carry his produce to market. St. Louis and San Francisco are the western cities named.

TWO DIE ON TREBLE.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 22.—Miss Tessie Ellis of Salt Lake was instantly killed by an electric train on a trestle where her foot caught in a crevice. George L. Michelle, buffet manager at a leading hotel, lost his life in trying to save her. The two ran along the trestle as the train approached. They were a few feet from the end of the trestle, and just before reaching safety, the girl's foot caught. Both made frantic attempts to release it. Both bodies were terribly mangled.

comparatively easy thing since the Juaristas held the ports. They were, moreover, not faced with the necessity of policing the country after the intervention, since both France and Spain were ready to take up the work and France had definitely decided to obtain a permanent hold on Mexico. When France determined to move, Great Britain left the field to Napoleon III.

Efficiency is the watchword at the Young Men's Christian Association now, and every department is being made to mold itself along exact lines. That is why it is so urgent that the association clean up its accumulated debt of $5,800, and that is another reason why it is going before the people of the community asking for its 1914 contribution at the same time as the back money.

The efficiency test is being administered to every department of the Y. Operating under the budget system, Secretary Blair figures to award to each department just what it has to spend, and not to spend anything additional. The same business management is used as they use in a successful business house.

The association now serves more men and boys than at any time in its existence. Both members and non-members are being received in great numbers. There are forty-three young men now rooming in the building. It has been said that the Y is a club of aristocrats, but in refutation of this it is declared that rentals may be had as low as $1.50 a week.

Opening the building on Sundays has made the Y even more popular. The baths and swimming pool are

New Haven and Department Of Justice Reach Agreement

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH] WASHINGTON, March 21.—After several weeks of negotiations with the department of justice, the New Haven Railroad announces it has reached an agreement for the dissolution of that line.

The announcement is made in the following terms:

POLITICAL POT IS BOILING IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Many Features of Approaching Primary Are of Interest to People Outside as Well as in the State

PROGRESSIVES HAVE CANDIDATES

Party Does Not Exist in Name, But New Wing of the Republican Organization Amounts to Same Thing

(Special to The Republican)

PIERRE, S. D., March 22.—The political pot in South Dakota is rapidly approaching the boiling point in anticipation of the general primary election to be held on Tuesday. There are several features in connection with the approaching primary to interest the people outside as well as inside of South Dakota. In the first place, it will be the first primary held under the new law, which provides for a combination of the direct primary and the convention system. South Dakota was a pioneer in adopting the direct primary system but after giving it a good tryout the people decided by a referendum vote that they wanted a little of the old convention plan mixed in with the system of making nominations for public office.

The new law provides for the election of delegates to two separate conventions for each political party—a majority and a minority convention. Each of these selects a list of candidates to go on the primary ballot for the final selection of a ticket by the party. The law also includes a party registration feature, and another provision giving the State committee of the dominant party the right to make appointments to office.

In the general primary to be held on Tuesday the general parties will name candidates for United States Senator and Representatives in Congress, and for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer and minor state officers to be voted for at the next state election.

South Dakota was the original stamping ground of the Progressive Republicans and the fight this year is the same old battle between the Progressives and the Stalwarts. The Progressive party does not exist in name but the so-called progressive wing of the Republican party amounts to the same thing. It is composed of the men who took up the LaFollette presidential boom when it was a mere bubble and stood by it faithfully until it burst, when they swung into line for Roosevelt and carried the State for him in 1912 by a big plurality.

Numerically strong and apparently in good fighting trim, the progressives lined up for the battle this year with a feeling of confidence engendered by their successes in the past. At the same time every progressive is going to meet with stiff opposition.

Most interest naturally centers in the contests for United States senator and governor. The contest for the senatorship is a straight-out factional fight without any regard to questions of public policy. Senator Geo. I. Crawford, whose term will expire next March, is a candidate for re-election. His principal opponent is Congressman Charles H. Burke, who is now serving his seventh term as representative of the Second district. Crawford is identified with the dominant faction of the Republican party in this State and was a leader in the fight that resulted in the overthrow of the old organization, and the triumph of the progressives. Burke on the other hand, enjoys a wide personal popularity and is counted on to make a good fight for the Crawford organ. Should the Democrats carry the State the senatorship would go to E. S. Johnson of Yankton, for many years the South Dakota member of the National Democratic Committee.

Within the Republican ranks there is a spirited three-cornered contest for the governorship. Governor F. M. Byrne, who headed the victorious progressive Republican ticket two years ago, is a candidate for renomination. Opposed to him as the standard bearer of the stalwart or minority faction of the Republican party is Henry B. Anderson. A third candidate in the field is E. O. Richards, who is running as an independent candidate. Mr. Richards has long been active in South Dakota
